First Prisoner Captured By Marine Guarding Mail Train; Fires at Another

Private Wasserman Discovers
Two Men at Mail Car of
B. & O. Train.

RES WITH SHOTGUN

News Orders to Shoot to Kill,
When Troops Were Assigned to Protect the Mails; One Man Who Dropped From Train May Be Dead.

By Associated Press.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 23.—Private Wasserman, United States Marine Corps, guarding Baltimore & Ohio train No. 9, from Washington to Pittsburgh, early today near Washington Junction, Md., discovered two men in the door of a mail car. He fired on them. One man dropped off the train the other swung out on the hand of the car. He later was captured by a brought here.

According to Captain Hardy, commanding the postal guard in the Pittsburgh district, Private Wasserman related to him that soon after the train left Washington he thought he saw someone on top of one of the mail cars. He gained an advantageous position and saw the top of the car. A fire but did not know whether he hit anyone as the train was in motion.

Little later, Captain Hardy said, a sergeant saw two men on the platform of the mail car and he asked a fire to open the door. This he did. Private Wasserman fired. One appeared and the other swung himself out from the platform and along the handcar. The marine went after him and brought him unfired to the car.

He was brought to Pittsburgh with the train and turned over to the authorities.

Captain Hardy questioned the prisoner and said the man told him he was a mechanic from Lackawanna, Pa., although he had been employed in Buffalo, N. Y. Recently he went to Philadelphia, the captain said, and while there he joined an organization known as the International Association of Military Workers. He had no money with a companion set out to make a way to Pittsburgh and were riding on the mail train.

"I don't know this man's name," Captain Hardy said, "but he told me he was to be joined here by James W. who is known as the 'millionaire' and after holding a meeting here they intended to go to Detroit to attend the annual meeting of the International Association of Military Workers, November 29 and 30."

Captain Hardy added he was unable to say whether the man intended to drop the train or not but the story the prisoner had given was very suspicious.

There may be an inquiry into the matter, the captain said, "but I don't think so as the guard was strictly orders to shoot first and ask questions afterwards. Manifestly the man had no right on a United States train."

Country Club
Officers Named;
Site Is in Doubt

At a meeting of the men of Connellsville and Scottdale interested in a country club Monday a permanent organization was formed by the election of officers. Next Monday night a meeting of those persons from outside interested in the proposition will be held with persons in this city, at which time it is probable a definite site will be selected. W. P. Luff and W. L. Wright are on a committee to recommend a name. Plans have been formed for the building of a clubhouse in both Connellsville and Scottdale to get a fine feeling in each of the communities towards the enterprise. A meeting was held here last night in the office of K. K. Kramer and one in Scottdale at the office of W. P. Stauffer.

Officers elected follow: W. H. Cline, president; Charles J. Kramer, vice-president; Thomas J. Hill, of Scottdale, secretary; J. Melvin Gray, Connellsville, treasurer.

A number of sites are being considered for the location of the club. There has been considerable opposition in Connellsville to the proposed site at Pennsville, because of lack of water and woodland.

SOME DISTRICTS EXCEED LAST YEAR IN ROLL CALL DRIVE

Others Lagging Behind, Due to Depression, Headquarters Notified.

FULL CANVASS IS URGED

What Is Lacking in Some Must Be Made Up by Others if Work Is to Be Successful; Campaign Continuing
Steadily in Number of Townships.

Reports are being received at county headquarters of the Fayette County Red Cross chapter's fifth annual roll call to the effect that quite a few of the districts of the county have exceeded the enrollment of last year. This, however, does not mean that the county enrollment has passed the mark set last year for there are a few districts most seriously affected by industrial conditions which, it is feared, will not approach the record of last year. Consequently, roll call headquarters is emphasizing the importance of making the canvass thorough and in districts where last year's record has been passed or where the tentative goal for this year has been reached it is urged upon all team captains and workers to continue the solicitation in their respective districts until every person has been enrolled.

Guy Brown, chairman for Washington and Jefferson townships, telephoned headquarters yesterday that the campaign in that territory had passed last year's mark but that the solicitation had not been completed. One of the bright spots in the campaign this year is the Smithfield district where Guy Feather, the chairman, reports a successful house to house canvass. D. S. Luce, at Perryopolis where an intensive campaign was made on Sunday afternoon, has reported only tentatively but the year's record will be passed, it is expected.

R. M. Marshall, chairman in Dunbar township, has been conducting a very vigorous campaign. A meeting was held at Trotter this week at which considerable enthusiasm was stirred up. Addresses were made by Mr. Marshall, Chairman Kurtz and Mrs. G. W. Duckner.

Reports of J. A. Forgie, Star Junction; Mrs. Hensell at Farmington; Frank A. Tarr at Dawson and J. G. Robinson in Franklin township are to the effect that the solicitation has not been quite completed and that reports are not yet ready.

M'CUDDEN ARRESTED

Scottdale Police Chief Gives Ball on Technical Larceny Charge.

As the outgrowth of the robbery of the store of W. B. Seaman of Scottdale several weeks ago, in which cigarettes and other merchandise were stolen, Chief of Police Frank McCudden of Scottdale was arrested Tuesday evening on a charge of larceny. He gave bail for a hearing next week before Alderman J. W. Darby of Uniontown.

Following the robbery the thieves were traced to Uniontown and a large quantity of cigarettes was found in the woods near the county seat. McCudden and Seaman took charge of them. It is now contended that the cigarettes were the property of the firm of Conroy & John of Uniontown and that in selling them the officer is guilty of larceny. A Uniontown dealer named John was arrested in connection with the robbery.

FRANCE WANTS FORMAL SUPPORT OF LARGE ARMY

Premier Briand Hopeful of Taking House Pledge of the Powers.

SUCH ACTION DOUBTFUL

Delegates Will Not Press Expression
But Show Expectancy as Representatives
Go Into Executive Session on Armament Question; Far East Later.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—The delegation of the five powers went into their first executive conference on armaments today with the French group hoping that the negotiations would be pressed to the point of a formal expression of some character before the departure of Premier Briand for France.

Just what decision such an expression could take at the present stage of the conference was uncertain, even in the minds of the French themselves, and they took their places at the table prepared to shape details of their program in the light of suggestions from the other delegates.

The premier would like to take a definite declaration of the powers supporting France in her determination not to weaken materially her army, but it was recognized that important obstacles might lie in the way of so formal a pledge.

Before the meeting some delegates let it be known that they would make no direct request for a precise declaration from the conference but they expected an expression that the other powers might on their own motion and was a further expression of their support of France.

FURNACEMEN SEEK REDUCED RATES ON COAL, COKE AND ORE

Hold Important Conference
With Railroad Official in New York.

ASK CUT OF 25 PER CENT

In Rates on Fuel and a Restoration of Pre-War Differential on Ore to Coal and Coke From Pittsburgh and Connellsville Traffic Districts.

Special to The Courier.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—A conference was concluded here yesterday which may have a very important bearing on the movement now under way to bring about readjustments in freight rates on coal, coke, iron ore, limestone and other bulky freight entering so largely into the production of iron and steel.

The conference was made up of upwards of 25 representatives of the furnace and steel plants in the Pittsburgh and Lake front districts, and the railroad executives who are in charge of the official classification territory.

The Pittsburgh district representatives are interested in the general proposition to reduce freight rates but particularly concerned about the continuation beyond January 1 of the 28 per cent reduction in the rate on iron ore to interior markets. Presently made effective by the Pennsylvania and the New York Central systems a few months ago. They are still more interested in lower rates on coal, coke and limestone and during the conference urged that a reduction of at least 25 per cent from existing tariffs be made.

The Lake front furnace men, who have already had a conference with the Interstate Commerce Commission on the subject, ask a proportionate reduction in the rates on coal, coke and limestone from the several regions producing these commodities for shipment to the Buffalo district.

Both the Pittsburgh and the Lake front representatives agreed in seeking a re-establishment of the proportional rates on fuel and ore in effect before the war. These provided a differential of 20 cents, the rate on ore to the Pittsburgh district having been 94 cents and the rate on coal to Buffalo having been 74 cents. The present rate on iron ore to the Connellsville district is $9.21 per net ton. The pre-war rate on coke to Buffalo was $2.00. It is now $3.61 and the coal rate $2.66.

Proposals of furnacemen were taken under consideration by the railroad representatives who will answer later. It is expected the reply will affect the entire pig iron, steel and fuel carrying rates east of the Mississippi river and north of the Ohio and Potomac rivers.

PRESIDENT SIGNS ANTI BEER BILL

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—The anti-beer bill was signed today by President Harding.

Signature of the bill automatically closes the gap in the nation's prohibition law revealed last March by Attorney General Palmer in an opinion that there was nothing in the Volstead act to preclude the prescription of beer as a medicine.

Weigley, owner of a Peerless car and Gus Phipps and the Welch brothers, owners of a Duesenberg. Both cars won previous races and both owners claim theirs the better car so this race will be put on to decide the dispute.

Mr. Weigley will drive his own car and Adam Welch the Duesenberg. Both are well known and noted as first class drivers.

A bet between the contending parties of $500 has been made. There will be no admission fee and it is expected if the weather permits there will be a large crowd.

EVERSON WOMAN LOSES VALUABLE PACKAGE ON CAR

Returning Tuesday afternoon to her home at Everson after visiting the office of an attorney here on legal business and finding he was not at home, Mrs. Mary Stern, a widow, lost a package containing legal papers of great value to her, $65 in cash, a gold watch, a half-carat diamond ring and a ruby ring.

Boarding a West Penn car, Mrs. Stern took a seat beside a foreign woman with a baby. The baby was inclined to be playful and almost immediately was attracted to Mrs. Stern's hat. She did not notice that the baby discovered the package, which she had placed in her coat pocket on the side next to her seatmate, and not until after she had left the car at Everson and the car was gone did she discover that the valuable, lost in a hankercieff, were missing. She notified the West Penn dispatchers at Connellsville, Scottdale and Greensburg but got no trace of the property.

Mrs. Stern is the widow of Nathan Stern, who died last December. She is rearing two children whose father and mother are dead.

Hubby Gone Three Years, Wife Is Granted Divorce

Three years ago William Baker Wiggins was engaged in the electrical business in Uniontown, told his wife, Mary Ellen Wiggins, it was necessary for him to go to Poland, Greece country, or his business and that he would return the next day. Nellie T. Glover of Uniontown was granted a divorce from Floyd Glover. They were married February 26, 1920. The libellant testified that she made her home with her brothers in Uniontown, Pa., and that her husband was domiciled at the home of a sister in Church street. He visited her between 11 and 2 o'clock nights, she said, but never maintained a home for them. She charged him with cruel treatment and infidelity.

ARMS CONFERENCE SURE TO PRESERVE CHINA'S INTEGRITY

Both England and Japan Will Acquiesce in America's Open Door Policy.

JUST ONE DUBIOUS POINT

That Is Whether the Chinese Delegation, Being Opposed by a Strong Faction in the Homeland, Really Represents the "Nation's Heart."

By Mark Sullivan.

National Political Correspondent of The Courier and the New York Post.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—What America is trying to do now in the disarmament conference is to save China. We shall succeed. There isn't any doubt about that. Both Great Britain and Japan will agree with us on all the essential things that must be done to maintain China's integrity. But the saving of China would be much easier if China were herself in a better position to help us do the saving. China is torn by civil war. That condition is as much a cause for pity as blame. The fact that a nation is involved in civil war cannot be permitted to be an occasion for other nations to take advantage of her. We have been involved in civil war ourselves. In fact, it was while we were weakened by civil war that France tried to steal a march on us by setting up a king in Mexico. As soon as our domestic troubles were over, we turned our attention to that, and it was settled.

Nevertheless, it is most unhappy that China at this moment should be so unable to help us in what we are trying to do. It is even difficult to be certain to what extent the Chinese delegates here for the conference really represent China. There is a strong faction in China which claims that this delegation does not really represent the nation and announced that its supporters will not be bound by what the Chinese delegation now in Washington does.

Also, no one can look upon these Americanized Chinamen who are in Washington now without being a little doubtful as to whether they really represent the heart of China. They wear American clothes, they talk English, almost fluently, and most of them spent their years of education either in Europe or America. Some of them it is taken for granted, are Christians. One wonders occasionally to what extent they truly represent the ancient culture of the 400,000,000 people who compose the Chinese race.

No one doubts that the Chinese delegation is working for the interests of China and that the program they have laid down for the conference is an ancient kingdom. The difficulty is that the present state of China puts the whole burden of saving her chiefly on the shoulders of the United States. As between the other two big nations, Great Britain and Japan, the latter has always been unversally charged with having selfish aggressive intentions towards China. The Japanese say now, however, that they are ready to abandon their old attitude and help us rehabilitate China. It can be accepted with a good deal of confidence that as the discussion of China ripens, Japan will be found accepting, without too much reluctance, the American point of view.

British policy about China has been somewhere midway between American policy and Japanese policy. Great Britain is ready to join us in saving China, if that is the program to which everybody else agrees. On the other hand, if the program is to exploit China, Great Britain purposes to be in the race.

Great Britain would probably have joined in the disposition to save China at an earlier date and with more heartiness if she were not a little restrained by the Anglo-Japanese alliance. The worst thing about that alliance has always been that it prevents Great Britain from standing with us as often as the British people undoubtedly would prefer in maintaining China's integrity. Under cover of the Anglo-Japanese alliance Japan has always been able to take huge chances in violating the open door than she would otherwise have done.

However, that is all a thing of the past. The Anglo-Japanese Alliance will be a by the best other formally or through a process of obsolescence. America is deeply concerned in saving the Anglo-Japanese Alliance, which is terminated as is commonly expected, and will be superseded by a new treaty very soon to be agreed upon at the conference. To be accurate, it will be almost wholly of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance.

What we are anxious about is that we should be in the presence by Great Britain and Japan. That will be the real test of the conference as far as the saving of China is concerned.

One of the things that will be decided here is whether the United States will be able to take the lead in the saving of China. The answer towards this outcome is the faster that is commonly recognized.

RIBBONS AND SLEEVES

Black chiffon velvet draped in long, cascade lines did not quite realize the ideal of originality for this frock, so it adopted long, gleaming ribbons of silk in lieu of sleeves, which fell so gracefully from shoulder to hands at each wrist. Wide neck cut high, and indefinite waistline are other points in favor of the smartness of this gown.

NATURE'S WAY WITH PESTS

One Destructive Insect Is Used to Fight Another; Each Capable of Useful Work.

You recall the old nursery rhyme, "This is the house that Jack built." The story of Nature's warfare runs on very much the same lines. This is the fox that ate the squirrel that stole the eggs of the meadow that killed the sparrow that devoured the fly that destroyed the caterpillar that spoiled the cabbage that grew in the house that Jack built.

Nature uses one pest to fight another. Each of the creatures mentioned is a pest; yet each is capable of useful work.

Measles and butterflies lay hundreds of eggs at a time, so that if nothing preyed on caterpillars we should soon have not a single green leaf in the country. But we must have moths and butterflies to fertilize flowers. The chief foe of the caterpillar is the ichneumon-fly, which lays eggs in him as he crawls on a leaf. These eggs hatch into grubs and kill the caterpillar.

The ichneumon-fly is eaten by small birds which do useful work in this way, though in other ways they are pests, for they are the farmers' corn.

They are kept in check by crows, hawks, crows, and magpies. These birds keep them down by snatching them. Squirrels are preyed upon by foxes, which, as we have no wild beasts in this country, must be kept in check by man.

QUESTION BOX TO BE BIG FEATURE INSTITUTE MEET

Which Assembles in Pittsburgh For Three Days Beginning December 7.

ADDRESSES BY NOTABLES

Will Be Made at the Sessions; Connellsville Man to Read Paper on Safety in Holsting Coal; Two Inspection Trips Planned for Last Day

The annual meeting of the Coal Mining Institute of America, which numbers many Connellsville region operators and engineers among its membership, will be held in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium, Pittsburgh, for three days beginning Wednesday, December 7. Following the usual order the distinguishing feature of the meeting will be the question box in the discussion of which members will take part.

After a business session for the election of officers, and a paper by Dr. George Ashby on "Mineral Resources of Pennsylvania," the question box will be opened. Question No. 1, propounded from Denver, Colo., is "What has been the effect on the upper of two beds of coal due to the lower being mined first?" The second question is "How can bad roof conditions due to the use of undercutting machines and shooting near to the roof be eliminated? Roof conditions under pick-mining systems are excellent." This strange question comes from Republic, Pa.

Jesse K. Johnston, president of the Ridgeview Coal company, Belvoir, Pa., will then present a paper, entitled "Some Data on the Thick Prospect Coal." In the afternoon session, with R. Z. Virgin presiding, a question from Columbus, O., will be introduced. "What are the important elements to consider when selecting a combination battery and trolley locomotive for gathering cars?"

St. Louis, Mo., furnishes the following question, or rather item for discussion: "Give some data on the proper installation of electrical equipment underground, direct current, alternating current, transformer, cables, motor-generator and rotary converter sets." Johnstown, with a strong roof, heavy bottom and low coal naturally questions, "Why not some way to work low coal on the longwall face system?"

"Safety Goggles and Safety Appliances for Cages and Hoisting Shafts" is the title of a paper to be delivered by W. G. Duncan of Connellsville, director of mining extension, Pennsylvania State College. This paper was in process of preparation a year ago, but Mr. Duncan has been incapacitated by sickness at that time and could not deliver it.

In the evening of December 7 the annual dinner will be held at McCrory's store, with President A. R. Pollock as toastmaster and E. E. Bach, director of the Americanization Bureau of Pittsburgh, Carl Scholz, of the Raleigh-Wyoming Coal company, Charleston, Pa.; A. R. Hamilton, coal operator, of Pittsburgh, and H. Foster Bate, director of the United States Bureau of Mines, Washington, D. C., as speakers.

At the morning session of December 8 Captain G. H. Barrell will read an article on "Carbon Monoxide Blanks for Coal Mines," and the question box session being resumed, with Alexander McCauley in the chair, the following questions will be asked: From Pittsburgh, "What is the relation of moisture content of the air to dust and gas explosions?" From Clarksville, Pa., "When a surface of a mine is entirely worked out and abandoned, wouldn't it be proper to seal off the section or would it be ventilated?" From New Zealand, "In a mine in which a fire has occurred, how is the fire extinguished by means of open lights, but in which only permissible explosives are used on account of the dryness of the dust, should the ventilating fan be run continuously or should it be stopped on Sundays, holidays or idle days?"

The morning session will also consider two papers, one by N. S. Greenfield, explosives engineer for the Hercules Powder company, on "The Scientific Selection of Explosives for Coal Mining," and one by Robert Z. Virgin, instructor, Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburgh, entitled "Inventory of All Values from Refuse Coal."

In the afternoon Daniel R. Flower of the Vesta Coal company will present two questions which will be discussed. St. Louis, Mo., presents "What are the main factors which constitute a successful mine official other than knowledge of the mining law?" and Johnstown, "Why should not all coal mines, regardless of whether they employ one man or 10 men, come under the Pennsylvania State Mining Law?"

Following will be two papers, "Explosion-Proof Mine Locomotives," by L. C. Halsey, electrical engineer, United States Bureau of Mines, and "Comparative Haulage Costs—Animal and Mechanical," by A. F. Strouse, consulting engineer, of Pittsburgh.

On Friday there are to be two inspection trips—one to the New Liberty tunnels and another to Carnegie Tech where the coal-mine and coal-mining models will be examined under the direction of A. C. Fletcher of the United States Bureau of Mines.

THANKSGIVING DAY PROGRAM AT FURNACE TOWN

Julos Service Will Be Held in Baptist Church at 10:30 O'clock.

SUNDAY SCHOOL RALLY

Special to The Courier
SUNDAY, Nov. 23.—Dunbar is preparing to give Thanksgiving Day proper observance, first with a union religious service in the Baptist church at 10:30 o'clock in the morning, at which all the church congregations will assemble, to be followed by a union service in the town hall at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon. The ministers of the town will all attend and the sermon will be preached by Rev. H. S. Hardin.

After the service there will be feasting at the family reunions characteristic of this season of the year. While turkey is high there will be many used, and those who do not feel able to procure one will satisfy themselves with chicken, goose, duck and the like.

A committee from the several churches is keeping tabs on the families whom unemployment has deprived of the ability to provide good things for Thanksgiving and baskets will be supplied.

The town has much to be thankful for this year. The furnace and associated interests have been working and the people employed, the farmers have good crops of grain and of hay, oil has been cheapened in price and the supply is equal to the demand and the outlook for the future is promising.

Young People Entertained.
The young people of the Methodist Episcopal Sunday school were last Saturday evening the guests of the E. L. Shaffer club at a reception and banquet given in the dining room of the church basement. More than 60 guests were present and enjoyed the provided were only excelled by the thermoplastic spread of which all truly partook.

Sunday School Convention.
The convention of the 18th district, (Dunbar and community) of the Fayette County Sunday School association, which is to be held at Mount Pleasant church next Sunday afternoon and evening promises to be one of the very best the district has ever held. An interesting program has been prepared. Delegates are expected to be present from every school in the district and a complete summary of the work being done will be had. In addition, excellent music from a select choir, a number of good addresses will be given. It is also expected to see a resolution on disbursement be forwarded to the president, to be given Secretary Hughes' report on the convention at Washington, D. C. All persons interested in Sunday schools and Sunday school work are invited to be present and aid the meeting by their presence and support.

Everybody will read with interest the statement of Miss M. E. Woodford, 1808 Elmwood street, Lynchburg, Va., who says:

"I don't believe anybody ever suffered from headaches like I did. The pains felt like an iron band was being drawn around my head and my temples would throb until I was driven almost distracted. I shudder when I think of those awful headaches. I had no appetite other than to eat."

"I owe Tanol an everlasting debt of gratitude for entirely ridding me of those terrible headaches. My stomach has been toned up too and everything I eat agrees with me now. Tanol has certainly brought me health and happiness."

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar coated, olive colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—quick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them 15c and 30c.

OSMIRIDIUM ONE OF HARDEST

Metal Is Employed in Tipping of Fountain Pens and for Delicate Machinery Bearings

An interesting history attaches to a small packet about two and a half inches square which recently arrived in London. It weighed two and a half pounds and was eagerly bought by an American firm for about $5000. The packet contained osmiridium (osmium and its alloy, iridium), used for the tipping of fountain pen points and for delicate bearings of the machinery.

The discovery of osmiridium, which is a member of the platinum group of metals, constitutes an interesting romance, the Detroit News states. Toward the end of the last year a small group of prospectors were washing for gold in one of the rivers in Papua, British New Guinea. In their eagerness to find the precious metal they threw away from their pans a bluish gray, flaky substance as worthless.

This was osmiridium, and it is eight times more valuable than gold and worth at the present time about $200 an ounce.

When the men got back to the settlement they mentioned the occurrence to a mining engineer who immediately asked them what they did with the substance. They replied that they left it on the river bank, and the engineer exclaimed: "It must be osmiridium!"

The next morning the whole party started for the spot, only to find on their arrival that the tropical rains and the swollen river had washed away most of the precious stuff. What remained was carefully raked together, refined and dispatched to London where it arrived safely a short while ago having been heavily insured for the voyage.

Osmiridium is one of the hardest metals known and prospectors are eagerly searching for it in Papua.

DOING HIS BIT.

A Canadian speaker was making an earnest appeal for forest conservation.

"What are our people doing to stop this fearful waste of the country's precious lumber supply?" he demanded.

"Is there anyone here who is doing anything at all?"

Gravely a little man in the audience rose from his seat.

"What! Is there really one?" exclaimed the orator. "And what may I ask, are you doing to save our forest from depletion?"

"I," said the little man solemnly, "always use a toothpick twice."

Boxing Card Is Complete

Another rattling good bout has been arranged for the stellar boxing show of the Fayette Athletic club at Slavish hall on December 1. Johnny King, the Fayette City youngster who made an impressive showing at the last show, has been signed to meet "Buck" Krouse in the opening bout of six rounds. The contest completes the full card for Thursday week.

With three star encounters booked the club presents a truly good boxing program. The bouts will be limited to one six, one eight and the 10-round feature bout. Matchmaker Barry says his reason for cutting out one bout of six rounds and giving the fans an eight round semi-final was to give the out of town fans who flock here ample time to make car connections to reach their respective homes.

In featuring an eight round semi-final between Mike Moran of Mount Washington and Jackie Fromme of Pittsburgh, the latter a prime favorite through downing all opposition in his bouts here, Barry has evidently made a decided hit with the club patrons. This bout has been considered for a feature bout in the near future and the fans getting this number, with the King and Krouse bout, not to mention the feature 10-round bout between Johnny Donnelly of Newark, N. J., and Billy Carter, the local heavy hitting boy, will see a show that surpasses any ever arranged to take place here.

The Donnelly-Carter scrap is attracting more interest than the first encounter between these two battlers. Letters are pouring in to Tony Cuneo, of the West Penn billiard parlors, for seat reservations. Those who witnessed the Donnelly-Carter and the Donnelly-Phillips bouts no doubt can readily recall the long line that was formed, in which those who delayed in getting their seats in advance were compelled to stand in line for at least a half hour and missed one or two of the opening bouts that took place before they gained admittance to the hall. This, Barry points out, could easily be avoided if those who intend to witness the show would get their seats in advance.

STATE COLLEGE IS ALL SET FOR FIVE PANTHER SATS
COLLEGE, Pa., Nov. 23.—The football touches were put on the Penn State football machine yesterday afternoon preparatory to the departure for Pittsburgh to meet the Pitt Panthers on Thanksgiving. Since the Navy game 10 days ago, the Pitt contest has been the main objective of the Nittany Lions and no efforts have been spared to whip the team into the best shape of the year.

A comparison of records for the present season would seem to make the Penn State eleven a decided favorite, but such should not be the case. Pitt, with a defeated team, can afford to take desperate chances, for the Panthers have nothing to lose and everything to win. Fighting with their backs to the wall, they will probably play their greatest game of the year on Thanksgiving day, hoping to redeem their previous lapses by a victory over Penn State.

The boys that Hugo Bezdek will send on the field are old soldiers to the core, and after coming through the stiffest schedule of any eastern eleven are determined to fight to the last ditch if necessary against the Panthers.

BASKETBALL.
The Snyder team will soon be arranging a schedule for the coming year, the team being picked and the uniforms selected. The uniforms are made up of bright colors, the jersey being all gold with the letters "Snyder" in blue, over the front. Gold stockings and blue trunks complete the make-up. The team consists of the following players: Hume, Guest, Moore, Snel and Wine.

A number of Fairbairn basketball players have organized a team and are now arranging a schedule for the coming year. They wish to book games with the best class teams in this part of the state. Any teams desiring games, write "Eddie" Harvey, Fairbairn, Pa.

UMPIRE ALWAYS HAS HIS SAY

Useless to Protest Against Arbiters' Judgment on Any Ruling in Baseball Game.

Every time an umpire talks, during a baseball game, he says a mouthful of law.

Baseball managers who have felt the occasion to protest a ruling have found this out. When his honor the ump speaks—that is all there is to it. It's all over but the protesting. And that doesn't mean anything, says the Chicago Post.

Recently, the Cleveland Indians protested a ball game because, so this speaker claimed, a Yankee player interfered with an Indian who was trying to make a catch. The protest came after the umpire ruled that there was no interference.

Bau Johnson was miles away from the play, but the ump's word was plenty good enough for him.

Truly, an umpire always has his say!

All Dunbar Township Is Coming Here for Game on Thanksgiving Afternoon

Three Hundred Student Tickets Ordered; Cheering Duel Certain.

TORNADOES BEGIN DRILL

Playing their first game in Connelville as a Thanksgiving attraction, the Dunbar township high school football team will be accompanied here by a host of rosters. Residents of the township, alumni of the school and its students heartily believe their team has an opportunity to achieve an ambition that has of necessity been forced to lay idle for many years—the chance to beat Connelville.

The Coker record this year has been established over a rocky course, and although it does not look like a world beater the backers of the team have no doubt but that the Orange and Black will be successful in the Turkey Day Game. Disappointment which first prevailed when it was announced that Dunbar Township would play here on that afternoon has waned to a great extent, however, as it has become known the visiting outfit will give the locals a tussle.

An order for 300 student tickets for the game has been placed by the township. That would indicate almost every member of the high school classes will be in attendance. Superintendent R. K. Smith said he thought all Dawson would be at Fayette field that afternoon. Such a crowd will make Connelville fans hustle to equal it in numbers.

With a student body of 300 on hand the Cokers are in for a cheering duel. It will be the first opportunity the home crowd has had for real opposition in cheering and the cheer leaders are primed for the fray. At least three-fourths of the high school enrollment is expected to be at the game. With bleachers and grandstand available, damp weather is not expected to reduce the crowd.

The Connelville Tornadoes will go to Uniontown tomorrow morning to hold a practice on Bailey field, where the contest with South Brownsville will be played on Saturday. The Cokers wish to acquaint themselves with their surroundings.

Uniontown fans who attend the Tornado-South Brownsville game Saturday will easily understand why the Uniontown Independents were defeated here by a score of 37-0.

Instead of receiving a $400 guarantee as was first proposed, the Tornadoes and South Brownsville will play for the entire gross receipts, the winner to take all.

There has been considerable money placed on the game Saturday, local fans coveting all advances made by persons from the other end of the county.

Manager Hannigan has finally signed Uniontown for a game in order to keep that team from going bankrupt through the purchase of postage stamps and telephone calls. United has been told it was better than the Tornadoes and since then has been better after a game. Beware, United!

The high school will lose only three men who started the game last week when the 1923 class graduates. They will be Captain O'Donnell, McClaren and Seisson. With the others all available next year the Cokers should have a squad sufficiently seasoned to show something.

Wonder if the Cokers will elect the best man for captain next season, or will they follow the custom of recent years by choosing the most popular? A quintet of men are eligible, some of whom are very popular and others who have the qualifications of real leaders. The election will take place following the close of the season.

One man who followed the activities of the high school football team this year was Donald Blash of Dawson. Blash was only a mediocre player when he first reported for practice, but last season he began to show the real goods. He was looked upon as one of the strongest men available for the backfield this season. Shortly before the opening of school he suffered a severe burn on the leg which has kept him crippled since. His heart was with the team, however.

FIERY, ITCHING SKIN IS QUICKLY SOOTHED WITH THIS SULPHUR

Mentho-Sulphur, a pleasant cream, will soothe and heal skin that is irritated or broken out with eczema; that is covered with ugly rash or pimples, or is rough or dry. Nothing soothes fiery skin eruptions so quickly, says a noted skin specialist. "The moment this sulphur preparation is applied the itching stops and after two or three applications, the eczema is gone and the skin is delightfully clear and smooth. Sulphur is so precious as a skin remedy because it destroys the parasites that cause the burning, itching or discomfort. Mentho-Sulphur always keeps eczema right up. A small jar of Mentho-Sulphur may be had at any good drug store.—Advertisement.

Can Pitch Either Way

Among the rookies tried out by Joplin in the closing days of the Western league season was a pitcher named Day, who answered Manager Jimmy Hamilton he could do as good a job pitching right-handed as he could southpawing. Hamilton, however, insisted on him depending on his southpaw arm the work he did. Day hails from Rogers, Ark.

Age Limit Will Help.

While the decree of the New York boxing board, putting an age limit of thirty-eight years on all fighters who may show their wares in New York state, will work hardships with some scrappers, it is likely to prove a blessing in disguise for some of our champions. When Johnny Kilbane, Benny Leonard and Jack Britton reach the thirty-eight count with their titles intact, they can dismiss their managers by telling them to go out and train up to their age.

Ray Caldwell, pitcher for the Cleveland American league team since 1919, has been given his unconditional release.

Rutgers college has booked the Georgetown basketball team for a game at New Brunswick, N. J., February 22.

With the scarcity of good baseball talent in the bushes, big league scouts are no longer ivory hunters, but merely tourists.

Dempsey and Willard have signed for a fight next spring, but the public refuses to become excited about it so far in advance.

Nate Siegal drew a three-month suspension the other day from the Massachusetts boxing commission for coaching a boxer.

The Newark club of the International, it is said, will abandon use of the Harrison hall park next year, building a new plant of its own.

The Brooklyn Dodgers, by the way, in taking the final game of the season from the Glints, won the season's play between the two teams, 12 out of 22, and was the only team to beat the Glints on the season in the National league.

THE LIFE OF GAS MANTLES

Illuminating Device Should Last 1,000 Burning Hours—May Be Destroyed in Few Moments.

The following facts about gas mantles are taken from Gas Logic, the house organ of the biggest gas company in New York.

"A good gas mantle should last from 500 to 800 or even 1,000 burning hours. "Breakage, however, is not always due to poor mantle quality. Turning the gas off and on and the slight explosion that sometimes occurs when it is lighted is highly destructive of mantles. A mantle which, burning steadily, might last for several thousand hours, may be destroyed in a few minutes by rough handling or in a few hours by unusual but unavoidable wear and tear.

"Faulty candle power is that measured when the mantle is first lighted. It is extremely high in cheap and inferior mantles. But soon, often within a few minutes, the brilliancy of the light fades, never to be regained. The intensity of this initial light is a snare into which the unwary and unwise frequently fall in purchasing cheap mantles.

"Sustained candle power is the measure of light given out by a mantle over a long period, and is, of course, the real test of a good mantle. The high-class mantle may not have an initial candle power equal to that of a cheaper substitute, but in the long test its superiority is demonstrated.

"Some of the gas companies are now selling mantles with a guarantee of at least 50 days' service."

Coal Powder.

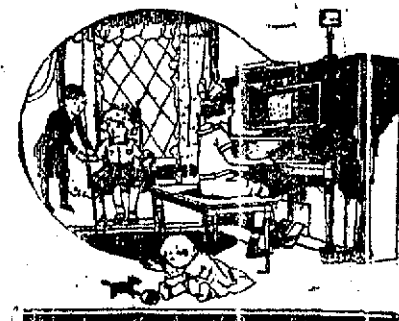

"Atomized" coal—different from merely "powdered" coal—because very minutely divided—is a new product that is finding important uses.

It is used for making a high-grade paint and also as a substitute for lampblack in the manufacture of ink. Another valuable application for it is in "fining" country molasses, to give the surfaces a smooth finish in preparation for canning.

TWO EFFORTS BEING MADE TO BRING FUEL FREIGHT RATES DOWN

Wholesale Coal Association
Attacks Reasonableness of Existing Level.

FURNACEMEN OF BUFFALO

Want Discrimination in Favor of Interior Furnaces Removed, Receive a Vague Promise Traffic Men Assure Reduction Is Sure to Come.

Two definite movements to bring about reduction in fuel freight rates on coal and coke are now in progress. The reasonableness of the existing level of these rates as a whole has been formally challenged by the American Wholesale Coal Association and correction of specific instances of discrimination is sought by the furnacemen of Buffalo.

The former has asked the Interstate Commerce Commission to institute a general investigation into coal and coke rates and into the charges for reconignment of cars and for car detention. The latter last week held a conference with the commission with a view to pointing out the inequalities in rates on coal, coke and iron between lake front and interior furnaces.

Unlike the demand made upon the railroad executives for an immediate abandonment of a sweeping downward revision of the rates on coal and coke, the present action of the American Wholesale Coal Association is started through the regular channels of a petition to the Interstate Commerce Commission. In its petition the association states that:

"Petitioner does not attack or desire investigation of the reasonableness and propriety of any individual rate, or of any individual relationship between coal rates, and asks that the investigation be confined to the reasonableness of the general level of the rates as a whole and to the reasonableness and propriety of the charges for the reconignment and diversion of coal cars and for the detention thereof. It is the conviction of the petitioner, however, that the commission should work toward a restoration of the rates, charges and differential rating which existed in 1917, and that the commission should, so far as it may reasonably and properly do so, endeavor forthwith to reestablish and properly do so, differentials which existed in that year."

How far the commission will entertain a petition of such a general character remains to be seen, says the Coal Trade Journal. In the past that body has shown a special hesitancy in disturbing individual rate relationships in coal, realizing that one adjustment authorized was the signal for a train of petitions that would have to be changed. By taking the coal and coke rates in their entirety, the American Wholesale Coal Association avoids asking the commission to plunge into the difficulties of adjusting isolated rate structures. There are now pending before the commission a number of separate proceedings involving specific rates, and it is not impossible that the rate regulating body might consolidate these, reopening those upon which hearings had already been held, into a general investigation upon its own motion. That would appear to be the end toward which the American Wholesale Coal Association is striving.

This view is further supported by the informal explanation of the proceeding given members of the organization. As told by Managing Director Cushing, the petition is general agreement that rates should be revised, but action along that line could hardly be expected until some individual or organization placed the matter formally and squarely before the commission.

Assuming that the petition is favorably received by the commission, it must pass through the regular routine of hearing so that there is little likelihood that any decision reached could become effective much before next April.

At the conference with the Interstate Commerce Commission on Friday session was held at which representatives of practically every blast furnace interest from Chicago to Buffalo, for all of the eastern Pennsylvania and Virginia furnaces, and for one West Virginia furnace presented their case. At the Buffalo conference, a representative of the Pennsylvania railroad assured the furnacemen that his carrier would give the proposal "very careful consideration." Except for using "serious" instead of "careful" the rejoinder of the New York Central representative was identical.

A canvass of many of the traffic men attending the conference revealed a unanimous sentiment that transportation charges are certain to be reduced, says the Cleveland Metal Trade's Washington correspondent. The consensus was that the railroads will file lower tariffs sometime in January. To many of the traffic men, it is only a question of how long the railroads will withstand the pressure for lower rates. One offer already has been made to reduce the charges on coal 25 cents a ton, but this fell through because certain interests would not be satisfied with less than a 50-cent cut.

Probably the best-known traffic manager at the conference asserts daily that fuel and ore rates should not be considered together, and that the way to balance a cut in ore for the interior furnaces is to make a similar reduction in ore for the lake-front furnaces. Did a lowering of coal and coke rates affect only the iron and steel industry the furnacemen's task would be much simplified, but any reduction in coal and coke will necessarily be general and will affect the carrier's revenue to a much greater extent than the recent reduction in ore.

ANSWERS "HOW LONG IS LIFE OF AN AIRPLANE?"

"Old Jinnie" Has Flown Over 42,000 Miles and Delivered Tons of Mail.

How long does an airplane last? It depends; but this most common of all questions asked by groundlings is answered amazingly by an air mail plane which has been constantly in the hardest kind of service for three and a half years, or since the air mail service was begun.

It has flown over 42,000 miles and has delivered tons of mail, hundreds of thousands of letters.

Air mail plane No. 12 has just been shown at the Minnesota state fair, and it has been proposed to house it as a historic relic at the Smithsonian.

It is the type the flyers call "the Ford of the air," being a Curtiss "Jinnie," or JN4E, with a 150 horsepower Hispano Suiça motor. It has a carrying capacity of 200 pounds, or 8,000 letters, carries 40 gallons of gasoline, and has a cruising radius of three and a half hours at 75 miles an hour.

"Old Jinnie" made the initial air mail trip between Washington and New York on May 15, 1918.

Contrasted with this ship, the newer type carries 1,000 pounds and has a cruising radius of five and a half hours at a maximum speed of nearly two miles a minute. They are De Havilland bombers, rebuilt for mail carrying.

Is the airplane beginning to interest the common man, as the automobile began to interest him only two or three decades ago?

Rapidly increasing sales of airplanes to individuals and companies indicate it is, and with reason, says Frederick Whitney, director of the Aero club of Southern California.

"Properly cared for and handled in the air an airplane doesn't cost any more for upkeep than an automobile," he declared at a meeting of the Trade Board of the club.

He drives both and ought to know. Surplus war airplanes of the type of the "Jinnie" are on the market for as little as $750.

"Harum-Scarum."

Harum-scarum is a perfectly good word used in connection with a person who is exceedingly wild, reckless or thoughtless. The word probably originated from a combination of the two English verbs, "harr," to excite or worry, and "scar," to frighten, Locke, in his "Essay on Education" uses "harr" as a verb in this manner:

"To harr and rattle them is not to teach but to vex them."

In this country, it is generally supposed that "harum-scarum" is an Americanization, due probably to Washington Irving's use of it in his "Alhambra," where he wrote:

"From a walk, the horse soon passed to a trot, from a trot to a gallop and from a gallop to a harum-scarum scamper."
